

British Lion for Egnation

Egnation, the UK's favourite source of liquid egg whites, has announced that it stipulates exclusively British Lion Quality egg products across its product range – confirming the company's commitment to quality.

Egg white is the highest quality protein available and is consumed by sports men and women who require high quality and high amounts of pure protein.

Egnation liquid egg white is specifically processed in the UK to maintain the amino acid profile and not denature the protein – imperative for the production of premium egg white. The guaranteed provenance of British Lion Quality egg products ensures superior egg white every time.

The company, based in Bristol, was founded in 2003 and alongside rugby internationals Andy Titterell, England and British Lions, and Alun-Wyn Jones, Wales, count various premiership football teams and rugby premiership teams amongst their regular customers.

Gareth Wotton, Sales Director for Egnation, said: "Egnation stands for 100% egg whites – nothing added, nothing taken away. Product quality is paramount and that is why we insist on British Lion egg products."

Ian Jones, Vice Chairman of the British Egg Products Association, said: "Egnation stipulate British Lion Quality egg products because they want to ensure they receive egg products produced to a consistently high level. Egnation can rest assured that the egg products they use ensure the highest standards of food safety, minimise food miles and support British producers."